Strategic Section In Road Safety Management: A Systematic Review

A road network plays an essential role in daily life, and its fundamental objective is to provide safe and accessible services to travellers. However, the number of deaths on roads par year is alarming and unacceptable. As a result , Road Safety Management systematically review its mode of operation through a strategic section that cut across all the 36 states of the Federation including FCT Abuja to develop or chart a new course to improve its service delivery. This is as it relates to road users safety, caution and protection of lives and properties.

Managing road safety requires systematic review of performance. Thus its FRSC's high command organized strategic session with all field commanders in reviewing where the Corps is and how to chart a new direction, going forward.

Reviewing the monthly Road Traffic Crashes on state basis especially speed violation, over loading, Dangerous overtaking, Driving under the influence of Drug and Alcohol, among others offences were examined to combat highway incidents.

Numerous methods and tools are being employed to assess road safety, through commands establishment such as Corridor Commands, Outpost, Zebra, nationwide. For tactical and operation level we have intervention patrol, Operation Zero, Sallah special patrol, Mobile court, Aggressive Public Education and Enlightenment among others, became tools that could be measured for improvement.

Conclusively, the concept of road safety systematic strategic review using appropriate tools and associated data have demonstrated and proven the adoption of 2026 corporate strategic goals, which spelt out 10% reduction road traffic fatalities and injuries through data driven solution, should be sustained.
